Little Hope Held For Settlement of Telephone Issues

Only Last-Minute Break Remains as Chance to Head Off 230,000 Workers' Strike; Truce Expires at Midnight; Mass Jamming Might Interfere

New York, April 25 (AP)—A CIO Communications Workers of America official said today there is "a possibility" that the union would delay its nationwide telephone strike set for 6 a.m. local time tomorrow.

New York, April 25 (AP)—Peace efforts to halt the nationwide telephone strike set for tomorrow morning went into their final hours today.

Neither side held out the least hope for settlement.

Already 10,000 equipment installers are striking against the Bell System and are under union orders to jam long distance lines whenever possible.

Only an unexpected, last-minute break—possibly arbitration or calling a presidential fact-finding board—remained as a chance to head off 230,000 workers in a twice-postponed general telephone strike.

President Truman's second strike truce expires at midnight (EST) tonight. If final negotiations collapse in New York city, the walkout is set to follow automatically at 6 a.m. tomorrow, local time.

In Washington, Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said he has no plan for Mr. Truman to act to head off the strike.

"I dare say Dr. Steelman (John R. Steelman, the President's assistant) is aware of what is going on," Ross told reporters.

Aside from jamming—which is illegal in some states—the installers' strike can have only a long-range effect on the public.

But a general strike tomorrow would bring disruption of the nation's phone service. Only a few and comparatively minor independent companies, mostly in rural areas, would be exempt.

Further, the supervisory employees who would try to carry on, as in past strikes, might find themselves hampered by the new union tactic of mass jamming.

In case of the big walkout, the CIO Communications Workers of America has asked all its own members as well as other sympathetic unions to be ready to swamp long distance exchanges with "hang-up" calls. The method would be to place a call and hang up before it was completed.

Would Hinder Exchanges

This would first hinder hand-operated exchanges, but enough calls can eventually swamp even the automatic dial systems.

The jamming order of the Installers' Union—Division 6 of the CWA—brought a warning from the company and a threat of prosecution from the state's attorney in Cook county (Chicago), Ill. The division covers 43 states.

"Apparently the union does not realize that loss of life and property can result from these irresponsible attempts to jam phone systems," a Bell System spokesman said.

The company called jamming unlawful, but the union declared it was perfectly legal. In any case, it would be hard to catch off-tenders.

The CWA's president, Joseph A. Bourne, has asked CIO president Philip Murray to order support in the jamming effort if it becomes necessary. Murray has made no comment on the request, although announcing strong support for the CWA.

Earlier yesterday, J. Russell Sprague, G.O.P. national committeeman and the party's leader in Nassau county, said a resolution urging Dewey to run would be offered to Nassau County Republican Committee members.

Meanwhile, Dewey is doing nothing to halt a strong draft movement in the state. William L. Pfleiffer, Republican state chairman, has expressed hope the governor will run for a third term. Numerous county chairmen have endorsed Dewey's candidacy. Several county committees have given official endorsement.

Mash Taxis Action

The latest push for another term came last night when the New York (Manhattan) Republican Committee adopted a resolution calling upon Dewey to seek re-election.

Earlier yesterday, J. Russell Sprague, a close friend of Dewey, was a key man in the governor's previous bids for office.

All of this could mean that the governor is playing political games. Dewey's old political foe, the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, was adept at using the "draft" device. Dewey often has shown a high regard for the political technique of the former President. A "drafted" candidate is supposed to be in a stronger position.

Some Say He Means It

However, many well qualified political observers think Dewey means what he has told some of his friends. It seems to make sense when considered in connection with recent developments.

Dewey has disbanded his famous "team" of political advisors and assistants. Paul Lockwood, his secretary, has been appointed to the State Public Service Commission. His counsel, Charles D. Breit, has been named to the State Supreme Court bench. Budget Director John I. Burton was elected a vice president of Cornell University last week. Elliott V. Bell, superintendent of banks, has gone into private business.

It long has been the opinion of close observers that Dewey, twice denied the presidency of the United States by the voters, would quit politics while still young enough to establish a profitable law business. Dewey is 48 years old.

Others Are Skeptical

Although the scales thus appear to tip toward Dewey's retirement from politics, other of his long-

Red Troops Rush Upon Escape Port

About 125,000 National Troops Crack Under Pressure of 15,000 Communists

Reds Move Arms

Men and Material Are Pushed Onto Island by Piao

Taipei, Formosa, April 25 (AP)—Red guerrillas, penned for months in the rugged Five Finger Mountains of Hainan Island, swarmed today within four miles of Yulin, Nationalist escape gate on the southern coast.

(A Hong Kong press report said Nationalists had evacuated emergency army and navy headquarters at Yulin.)

The guerrillas were spurred by the collapse of Chinese Nationalists' troops in the face of numerically inferior Communist forces who stormed ashore nine days ago.

The Nationalists, possibly 125,000 strong, cracked under the pressure of some 15,000 veteran Communist fighters and the threat of 60,000 guerrillas at their rear.

They fled on Saturday from Hainan, the capital where only the day before they had staged a victory celebration. The Communists entered peacefully Sunday morning.

A general on Hainan said Chiang Kai-shek had ordered the island abandoned. This was denied here, but there were reliable indications the report was true.

It appeared the decision to pull out was carried to Nationalist commanders Thursday by Gen. Chen Chi-tang, the island governor. Chen had been summoned to Formosa.

Communications with Hainan were virtually cut off. It appeared the evacuation of top leaders was in progress.

The Red guerrilla drive on Yulin was marked by fires, possibly from burning villages. A plane pilot, one of the last to leave, reported the flares.

There were accounts of isolated clashes between Red irregulars and Nationalist troops.

Meanwhile, Red Gen. Lin Piao poured more men and heavy weapons across the 10-mile Hainan Strait, said Chinese press reports in Hong Kong.

The Communists no longer faced the dread fire of Nationalist air and surface craft in crossing the strait. That is because Nationalist hopes of defending the island were gone.

The suddenness of the Nationalist collapse provoked gloom on Formosa. For one thing, it prevents transfer of sorely-needed war material. Formosa itself may be fighting Communist invaders before the year is out.

Won't Repeat

Washington, April 25 (AP)—Wayne Coy said today he has "no intention of being available for reappointment" as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC). His term expires June 30, 1951. Coy said he will leave the post while testifying to the Senate expenditures in behalf of President Truman's plan to reorganize the FCC.

Prepare for Action

Berlin, April 25 (AP)—Gen. Thomas T. Handy, U.S. commander-in-chief in Europe, watched today while American infantrymen with fixed bayonets drove back a theoretical mob of 40,000 Berlin Communists through swirling clouds of tear gas. The exercise was the latest test of American military readiness to cope with possible disorders in the city in May.

Negotiations began last October under a wage-reopening clause in the contract, which expires next November. Last February the union revealed its full demands—a 15-cent hourly raise, shorter hours, faster advancement, pen-

Lutzel Is Freed by Ulster Jury Of Bergemann Murder Charge

Freed of Murder Charge

Verdict Is Presented Monday, 8:30 P.M.;

Defendant Is Grateful

Theodore A. Lutzel, 47 year old Brooklyn carpenter, was acquitted of a first degree murder charge in county court Monday evening by the eight woman and four man jury which for the past two weeks had been listening to testimony in connection with the death of Ruth S. Bergemann, 36, of High Falls, who was found shot to death in High Falls on November 27, 1949.

After the verdict of "not guilty" had been reported, John Bonomi, counsel for Lutzel, asked the court's permission for the defendant to personally thank the jury. Judge John M. Cashin consented to the request.

Lutzel, with tears in his eyes, thanked the jury and said "thank you all." Here he paused and wiped his face with his handkerchief and then continued, "I can't say any more, thank you a lot."

The charge of County Judge John M. Cashin, in which he reviewed the testimony in chronological order and then instructed the jurors as to the law and the fact that they might find the defendant guilty of a lesser degree of crime than that charged in the indictment if in their opinion the facts did not warrant first degree, or that they might acquit the defendant if they believed a crime had not been committed by the defendant, was concluded shortly after 4 o'clock and the jurors retired at 4:30 to begin their deliberations.

At 7 o'clock the jurors sent word to the court that they had reached a verdict.

Judge Cashin convened the court and the jury was brought in.

A request was made for an explanation as to the difference between first and second degree manslaughter. Judge Cashin read the sections of law in which these definitions are contained and the jury again retorted.

It was shortly after 8:30 o'clock that the court officials announced the jury was ready to report. Judge Cashin convened the court and the jurors filed in.

After the jury had been polled by the cleric they were asked if they had reached a verdict and they had replied was "yes."

The verdict was announced by several of the jurors simultaneously when asked what their verdict was. As the verdict was announced several of the women on the jury began to weep and Lutzel also bowed his head and began to wipe his eyes.

Mr. Bonomi thanked the court and the jury and then asked permission for the defendant to address the jury.

Members of the jury were excused from the case and Judge Cashin thanked them for their attention and service. He stated any of the 12 jurors who desired might be excused from further service or they might continue to serve. Court was recessed and after Wednesday at 10 o'clock and after this week the court will recess until June when the term will be resumed. Supreme court will convene next week. Judge Cashin stated he would continue the term in June in order to dispose of numerous matters which remain on the calendar for this term.

Charged With Murder

Theodore Lutzel was charged with murder, first degree, by the grand jury following the finding of the body of Ruth Bergemann at High Falls last November 27. Lutzel had been employed at the Lutzel farm at High Falls as a carpenter but had left the farm a few days prior to the shooting and taken a room in Rosendale.

Testimony indicated that he and Ruth had a disagreement several days prior to the shooting and that he intended to return to Brooklyn on Sunday morning.

At a public night session (7 p.m.) the Lutzel committee arranged to hear three witnesses on the Lutzel charge.

They include two former FBI agents, John J. Hubert of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and Lawrence Kerlan of the staff of the New York Journal-American. Both were suggested as witnesses by McCarthy.

The third witness, Dr. Bella V. Dodd of New York, a former member of the National Committee of the American Communist party, is expected to back up under oath her previous statement that she never heard Lutzel name mentioned in connection with Communist activities.

Millikin Predicts Security Bill to Be Ready in 2 Weeks

Washington, April 24 (AP)—Senator Millikin (R-Colo.) predicted today that the Senate Finance Committee will have Social Security legislation ready for Senate action in about two weeks. Millikin, ranking G.O.P. member of the group, told reporters he expected all major policy questions to be solved by the end of this week without any party-line splits. He added that an additional week would be required to get the bill in shape for the Senate.

The committee agreed yesterday on a major section of the bill dealing with extension of Social Security coverage beyond the estimated 35,000,000 now in the program.

It left virtually unchanged the 7,000,000 figure in the House-approved bill to which compulsory coverage would be extended, but pared 2,500,000 from the 4,000,000 to whom the House would extend voluntary coverage.

The cut was effected by eliminating a House provision which would have made state and municipal employees such as school teachers, police and firemen now covered by other retirement systems eligible for Social Security.

The committee made two other principal changes in the House bill.

One defined outside salesmen, taxi drivers, industrial home workers, contract loggers, mine lessees and other so-called independent contractors, except full time insurance salesmen, as self-employed persons.

The House bill would extend coverage to this group for the London, April 25 (UPI)—The nine Liberals in the House of Commons decided tonight to vote against the shaky British Labor government's new gasoline and truck taxes. The decision hit the Labor Party hard. Is Held for Attempt To Murder Children

Lawrence, Mass., April 25 (AP)—A former Lawrence postal employee was booked today on a charge of attempting to murder her four children with illuminating gas.

Deputy Police Chief Arthur J. Riley said James M. Ryley, 36, was taken to Danvers State Hospital for mental observation after being booked.

The deputy said Ryley tied the four children, ranging from six to 14 years of age, to chairs and then turned on gas in a kitchen stove and a jet on a gas heater.

The eldest child, James, freed himself, the deputy added, and notified neighbors. They called police.

Two patrolmen, William Ludwig and Alfred A. Donovan, found Ryley in an upper room of the two-story single family house. They found the other three children, all tied to chairs, in the kitchen.

None of the children was overcome. The other children were Mrs. Marilyn, 10, Eleanor, 7, and Lawrence, 6.

They were Ryley's children by a previous marriage. His present wife, Dorothy, a registered nurse, was out on a case.

The deputy police chief said that Ryley could give no explanation for his act.

Airmen Can Test Floes For Safety Landings

Washington, April 25 (AP)—The air force has developed a gadget to help fliers find out from the air whether an ice floe is strong enough for plane landings.

The device is dropped on the ice by parachute. The impact detonates a small charge which sets up vibrations in the ice. A seismograph, similar to those which detect earthquakes, records the vibrations. Its report is transmitted automatically by radio to the plane.

An idea of the depth and strength of the ice mass can be obtained from the radioed recording.

The device is expected to be of special value in arctic operations. It was tested during the past winter on Lake Superior. Research was done at the air force's geophysics laboratory at Cambridge, Mass.

Release time period for religious instructions for all grammar school children will be held at the parish hall of Presentation Church on Wednesday from 2:30 to 3:30 p. m., under the direction of the Redemptorist Fathers from Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus.

Will Announce Profits

New York, April 25 (AP)—New fuel for the steel price-profits argument is supplied today by the nation's biggest steel producer. United States Steel Corp. is scheduled to announce net income for the first three months of 1950 after a directors' meeting late today (3 p. m.) at which dividend action is taken. Reports of U. S. Steel always get close attention in financial circles. And recently congressional committees have turned a searching light on the corporation's affairs.

AMERICANS IN SHANGHAI

There may be more than meets the eye in the case of the two thousand Americans "and other foreigners", according to State Department description, who want to get out of Shanghai. The impression has been established that the two thousand are marooned there because the State Department cannot get a ship into the Shanghai harbor to take them out. The next idea on tap seems to be to transfer these people by rail to other ports which would be more accessible.

If it is earnestly desired to get these people out of China, what is the matter with the air? The evacuation of two thousand persons would have been all in a day's work for the Berlin airlift. No such huge air transport system exists in the China area, but there are heavy cargo carriers of the Air Force at Japanese bases, and Shanghai airports can easily handle the craft. A handful of planes could move the two thousand to Japan, with reasonable amount of luggage, in a week or so.

Budenz has earned the gratitude of the American people by the consistency of his sacrifice. This needs to be said of other ex-Communists: Ben Gitlow, Joseph Zack, Eddie Massing, Dr. J. H. Matthews (he was a fellow-traveler), Whitaker Chambers and many others who have stood the test of contrition, suffering and sacrifice.

In this connection, may I point out that the same is true of others, including Senator McCarthy. Yet, when Alfred Kohlberg, who does possess means, challenged those who shout that they will sue for libel, to sue him for saying the same things, nobody sued him. There have been threats, but no suits.

It is earnestly desired to get these people out of China, what is the matter with the air? The evacuation of two thousand persons would have been all in a day's work for the Berlin airlift. No such huge air transport system exists in the China area, but there are heavy cargo carriers of the Air Force at Japanese bases, and Shanghai airports can easily handle the craft. A handful of planes could move the two thousand to Japan, with reasonable amount of luggage, in a week or so.

There must be some reason why this has not been done, other than lack of the idea. Apparently both sides in the Chinese civil war have contrived to prevent emptying Shanghai of foreigners. The Nationalists have blockaded the Shanghai port entrances, and their act of mining the last channel entrance was blamed officially in Washington for abandonment of a direct sea evacuation. The Communists are said to be holding some foreigners as hostages against Nationalist action, and when a plan was perfected recently to pick up the Americans and others with Navy landing craft the Communist authorities vetoed that plan.

All this becomes more puzzling in the light of professed Nationalist desire that Westerners stay on their side and have no truck with the Communists, and of the great show the Communists make of wanting to get rid of the foreign devils. Obviously something in the situation is not yet disclosed to the public eye.

UNIT ELECTION SYSTEM

The county unit primary election system in Georgia will not be disturbed by the Supreme Court, which has ruled that federal courts have no right to interfere with a state's method of geographic distribution of voting strength. This ends the matter as far as Georgia voters and the federal courts are concerned.

The Georgia primary system resembles the national electoral college system by which our presidents are elected. Each county has a fixed number of electoral votes, cast as a unit according to election returns in the county. Georgians who asked the federal courts to intervene raised the same objection which has been made to the electoral college; they said it altered the distribution of voting strength so that it did not conform to the distribution of population. It makes possible the election of state officials who do not receive a majority of the people's votes.

This point about the Georgia system is pertinent to the national electoral college question. Pending in Congress is a proposed constitution amendment which would eliminate the state unit voting practice, and distribute electoral votes in each state according to the popular vote. As an alternative plan, it has also been proposed that unit voting be retained, but that the unit votes be decided by congressional districts instead of by states. In effect, this would break the electoral colleges down from a system by states to a local unit system very much like the Georgia primary. It is likely that the same objections of unfair distribution, raised by some Georgians against this system of theirs, would also apply to a national district electoral system.

These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

BY WHICH DOOR?

Now that it is promised that the "Amerasia" Case is to be reopened, there is reason to believe that Senator Tydings will not slough it off. His council, Edward P. Morgan, an ex-F.B.I. man, and the Republican counsel, Robert Morris, who had been assistant counsel for the Rapp-Coudert investigation in New York, are reliable men who have reputations of their own to preserve.

Even before Louis Budenz testified, Senator Tyding's committee and their counsel were at work on the "Amerasia" Case. This is a door that leads to many rooms. Budenz has established in his testimony that a Communist Cell existed in the Institute of Pacific Relations. It will be impossible to investigate "Amerasia" without moving into the Institute of Pacific Relations and numerous other organizations. The testimony of Brigadier-General Elliott Raymond Thorpe did not affect the Budenz testimony. All that Thorpe said was that he believed Lattimore. As Thorpe is a new name and hardly known, the question arises whether his testimony has pertinence and validity.

Louis Budenz is a former Communist, formerly editor of their organ, the "Daily Worker." He was originally a Roman Catholic and returned to his Church after prolonged and important membership in the Communist Party; he is now a professor at Fordham University. From every testable standpoint, Louis Budenz has established his bona fides. At great personal risks, he has testified in a large number of government cases. Without him, many of those cases would have fallen. He has exposed himself to abuse and defamation. He has in no manner protected himself, except against libel—and in that matter, only because he lacks the funds to fight cases.

(In this connection, may I point out that the same is true of others, including Senator McCarthy. Yet, when Alfred Kohlberg, who does possess means, challenged those who shout that they will sue for libel, to sue him for saying the same things, nobody sued him. There have been threats, but no suits.)

Johnson went on to explain that Russia doesn't have the resources to attack the United States, but will try to bluff us into bankruptcy instead. He also added:

"There is complete agreement in the Defense Department as to what the danger is and what we need to meet that danger."

Johnson also gave Gen. Eisenhower a mild rap on the wrist in regard to Ike's testimony that the military budget was weak on air power and Alaskan defenses. He scolded Eisenhower as a "very able and very capable man" but not "well informed," and expressed regret that he hadn't been able to consult with Eisenhower before his testimony.

Eisenhower is wrong about Alaska," Johnson bluntly maintained. "The big problem there is housing and nothing else."

But the main point that stood out during Johnson's talk to civilian executives was: He intends to hold the line on economy.

Long Tom Connally

Senator Tom Connally of Texas, noted for both his wit and his pure cussedness, recently pulled something seldom seen on the Senate floor. He walked out in defiance of the Senate rules, which say that a senator cannot be excused without unanimous consent.

Alabama's Senator Lister Hill wouldn't give Connally his consent, because he was needed to make up a quorum. Hill who was acting majority leader, pleaded:

"I hope the Senator from Texas will not press his request at this time."

"I will not press it," snorted Connally, "I will just get my hat and go home."

Without further formality, Long Tom marched out of the Senate cheerfully waving gay good-byes to his colleagues. He was going to a dinner for the president of Chitt.

The Senate could have ordered the sergeant-at-arms to bring Connally back, instead the Senate

General Disagrees

"I have talked to the secretary about this matter," fumbled Bradley. "What I think the secretary meant is that Russia won't be prepared to wage war for three months, six months or possibly a year or even longer."

When it came the navy's turn, Admiral Forrest Sherman, chief of naval operations, gloomily remarked:

"The evidence of the last couple of weeks would indicate that all is not peace and harmony abroad in the world."

Most outspoken dissenter was General Hoyt Vandenberg, air force chief of staff, who warned that American air strength is lagging behind Russia in many categories.

"We haven't any air defenses worthy of the name," he said in reply to an inquiry.

Despite this, the secretary of defense was insistent that the real danger from Russia is not armed aggression but economic collapse.

"I'm not going to retreat at all on budget economies," Johnson insisted. "In fact, I am going to have more of them."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Speaking off-the-record to a civilian orientation conference last week, Secretary of Defense Johnson dramatically declared: "We know—and I say we KNOW—that Russia does not plan to conquer the United States by force or war. She intends to do it by driving us into economic collapse which will give the Communists an opportunity to infiltrate and to take over."

Johnson went on to explain that Russia doesn't have the resources to attack the United States, but will try to bluff us into bankruptcy instead. He also added:

"There is complete agreement in the Defense Department as to what the danger is and what we need to meet that danger."

Johnson also gave Gen. Eisenhower a mild rap on the wrist in regard to Ike's testimony that the military budget was weak on air power and Alaskan defenses. Congressmen and Home Folks

Rep. Winfield Denton, home-spun Democratic Hoosier from along the Ohio river, thinks he knows the answer for what's wrong with Congress. "We ought to have more money for travel," says Denton, "so congressmen would get home more often. Every time I walk down Main street I know how phony is the atmosphere of inspired letters and pressure in Washington."

"A few days ago I was mighty worried about letters on economy and balancing the budget. But when I got home, people stopped me on the street and asked if the new social security bill would help them. Small merchants said they'd like to have the same protection as their employees."

Merry-Go-Round

Clark Griffith, the tight-fisted owner of the Washington Nats, is not part of the White House reporters. He refuses seats to the opening ball game for the boys who have to train President Truman at every public appearance.

"I am for Truman, and I am doing my job the way Truman would want it done. So reports that I am not getting along with Truman are just malice."

Johnson also gave Gen. Eisenhower a mild rap on the wrist in regard to Ike's testimony that the military budget was weak on air power and Alaskan defenses. He scolded Eisenhower as a "very able and very capable man" but not "well informed," and expressed regret that he hadn't been able to consult with Eisenhower before his testimony.

To Discuss Recreation At Goshen Meeting

The New York State Youth Commission and local sponsors of Youth Commission projects have jointly arranged an Area Recreation Conference to be held at the Orange Inn, Goshen, on May 5.

This conference is one of a series of similar meetings throughout the state to discuss subjects relating to local recreation programs and other matters pertaining to youth services.

The New York State Legislature recently amended the Youth Commission Act extending the commission for a period of three years and broadening its powers. Policies of the commission, particularly as affected by the new legislation, will be discussed.

Communities of Ulster county with representatives at the conference will be Ellenville, Highland, Marlborough, and Wallkill.

first time on an employer-employee basis.

The Senate committee would extend coverage to these but they would have to pay more for it. Persons defined as employees now pay 1 1/2 per cent on the first $3,000, their annual earnings, with employers contributing a like amount. The self-employed, under the Senate proposal, would pay 2 1/4 per cent. This would figure out to $67.50 a year, as compared with $45 for regular employees.

The other change would apply to employees of non-profit organizations such as religious and charitable groups. The House had agreed to cover all such employees, except ministers and members of religious orders.

The Senate committee banned from coverage all employees of religious denominations and of organizations owned or controlled by a religious denomination.

Committee aides said the issue basically was one of continued separation of church and state.

The Senate committee agreed to extend coverage to publishers on a self-employed basis. But such groups as lawyers, doctors, farmers, dentists and veterinarians are still excluded from all social security coverage.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Troop 12 News

The 20th annual application for a charter for Boy Scout Troop 12 of the First Dutch Church was recently submitted. Troop 12 is one of the oldest in the Hudson Valley.

During the recent meeting, George Oberly was appointed new scoutmaster replacing Floyd Spencer who served the troop for 18 years. Spencer was named chairman of the Scout committee.

James Rosa, William Hauser and Ralph Shapiro, all graduate Scouts of the troop, were designated as assistant scoutmasters.

Others members of the Scout committee besides Spencer are Francis Fiore, in charge of outdoor activities; Russell Edwards, head of advancement; the Rev. Arthur E. Oudenouw, public relations; Jack Hill, who will lead the Explorers; and Robert Matthews, supervisor of activities.

Twenty boys were enrolled as Scouts. The troop is open to all meeting the requirements.

Two Pedestrians Hurt in Accident

Two pedestrians were injured in automobile mishaps in the city yesterday.

Herbert Van Darrow, 42 Josephine avenue, reported at 4:35 p. m. that as he was driving west on Franklin street at Clinton avenue, Robert Hyatt, 3, of 201 Main street, ran into a fender. He was treated by a doctor for bruises and abrasions.

Officer Francis Fagan notified headquarters at 2:15 p. m. that Katherine O'Connell, 66, of 411 Wilbur avenue, was struck at Wall and John streets by a car driven by Raymond Howe, 48, of Main street, Port Ewen. Howe was making a left turn from John into Wall street, the report said. The woman was treated at Kingston Hospital for a leg injury. Officers Thomas McGuire and Kenneth Stratton investigated.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

"The Freeman" certainly gets around. In the past week received letters from Lakeland, Florida; Mechanicsville, N. Y., and West New York, New Jersey. I hope my contributors will be patient as I try to use all the interesting material as soon as it comes in, but it takes about two weeks before publication, as I must write ahead.

I received a thrilling letter from Mrs. Vincent C. Marke of Mechanicville Avenue in Kingston. "A short time ago, I read in your column regarding President Arthur's visit to Kingston and the Catskills. At the time of his visit, my parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Van Aken, were staying at the Kaaterskill Hotel. My father at that time was editor of a Hunter paper I being the youngest guest, two years old, was given the honor of being the flower girl. I entered the hall carrying a large bouquet of flowers to President Arthur, but being shy started to walk away when he took me in his arms and kissed me. My parents who have passed away since then, often reminded me of being flower girl to the President of the United States, as it was with great interest when I read your account of his stay at the famous hotel. At that time my name was Elsie Van Aken."

James E. Phinney of Mechanicville, N. Y., writes: "The old gristmill at Wilbur, recorded in your column of April 6 proved to be of great interest to me for the reason that my father, James E. Phinney, was bookkeeper in the mill from 1866 to 1881, when he assumed the management following the death of the original owners. Erected before the Civil War, across the Tivatalkill stream, the structure, three stories high, was powered by the brook breaking over an 'overshot' waterwheel and in time of low water by the stationary engine. All kinds of food stuff for cattle passed through French burr millstones and the larger amount was sold to the teamsters, about 150.

"Bringing bluestone to the docks controlled by William F. Pitch, Julius Osterhout, Hallinan, Sweeney and Tappan, estimated in the aggregate at 1,000 tons daily. The stone was shipped to New York and down east in small sailing vessels until the arrival of barges, which, incidentally, ushered in the movements of regularly scheduled tugs. I have seen 40 sloops moored to the Wilbur docks ready to take cargoes aboard. Each sloop, as I recall, had a crew of four men."

"Indeed, Wilbur was the main-sting of activity for Kingston in those days. In addition to the demand for bluestone, principally for sidewalks, there were two cement mills, one lime plant and also planning beds for the stone used in building and for special orders. For men employed only during navigation, April 1 to December 1, Ten hours daily, the wage annually, approximated $360," concluded James E. Phinney.

Mr. Ostrander of West New York enclosed a couple of items regarding the activities around the docks and creek, as he remembered it as a growing boy, which will be covered in a future column.

It takes an expert to figure things out. Recently one came up with the fact that in the course of a year, the average housewife with an old-fashioned water heater in the cellar climbs approximately 24,000 steps just tending the thing! Or, maybe, if you have such a contraption in your cellar you don't need an expert to remind you of the beating you take.

Mental Health Is Subject of Week

Mental Health is being discussed in Kingston and Ulster county as well as throughout the state and country as today begins Mental Health Week. Events planned here in cooperation with the Committee on Mental Health of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association for the observance were announced by the secretary, Miss Katherine M. Murphy, R. N.

Miss Murphy explained that mental health is more than the absence of disease. It consists of the ability to live with other people—happily, productively, and acceptably. Mental Health concerns all groups in a community—children and adults, the well-to-do and the less fortunate, the suburban and the ruralite. Miss Murphy said that Mental Health is much more than concern for persons with mental and nervous disorders. It includes all the factors which serve to contribute to the development of physically healthy, mentally alert boys and girls, men and women.

Several programs will be carried on in observance of Mental Health Week. At the Kingston High School on Monday evening, the new film, "The Feeling of Rejection," was shown and discussed by a panel of experts. The luncheon meeting of the Kingston Lions Club will be given over to a discussion of the Ulster County Mental Health Program by Dr. Edward F. Shou, chairman. On Wednesday, April 26, at 3:30 p.m., a Baby-Sitters Leadership Training Institute will be held at Kingston High School. Special radio programs and news articles will be given throughout the week.

Wed in St. Colman's

Mrs. Teresa Iconetti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfonso Iconetti of East Kingston, and Henry O'Bryan, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry O'Bryan of Flatbush road, were married Sunday at St. Colman's Church, East Kingston.

The Rev. Edward Radford performed the double ring ceremony. Charles Riedmiller, soloist, sang "Ave Maria." The altar was decorated with white snapdragons, milax and ferns.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin, with long lace sleeves, lace bodice, lace insertion in the center panel of the skirt, and a bustle back ending in a long train. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of white satin, edged with Chantilly lace and trimmed with rhinestones. She carried a prayer book with an orchid.

Maid of honor was Miss Shirley O'Bryan, sister of the groom, who wore Nile green marquisette over taffeta, with lace insertion in the center skirt panel, matching mitts and picture hat. She carried a colonial bouquet of juncos and iris.

John Iconetti, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

After a reception for 200 guests at St. Liberate's Hall, with music for dancing, the couple left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada.

Miss Emily Ruth Peters Becomes Bride Of Ralph Constable; to Live in Brooklyn

Miss Emily Ruth Peters, daughter of Mrs. Ross P. Peters, Albany avenue Extension, and the late Henry N. Peters, was married Saturday to Ralph Gordon Constable, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Constable, 469 Washington avenue.

The Rev. Frank Lawrence Gollnick officiated at the double ring ceremony in Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, which was decorated with white snapdragons, carnations and ferns.

Miss Ethel M. Oesterling, aunt of the bride, was soloist, singing "Give Me Your Hand," "Because," and "Oh, Perfect Love." Miss Lorraine Merritt was organist.

Given in marriage by Herbert V. Gleason, a friend of the family, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over Burnill satin, with a rope of sheer nylon marquisette. The lace extended in applique to fingertip length on the skirt of nylon net which flowed into a graceful circular train. She wore a rope of seed pearls which her mother had worn on her own wedding day. Her fingertip veil was of sheer nylon trimmed with lace, cascading from a coronet of seed pearls and opals, which had been designed and made by the bride. She carried a shower colonial bouquet of white iris, hyacinth florets and sweet peas.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Irving J. Kotrady, 69 Clinton avenue, former classmate of the bride, who wore a gown of orchid nylon marquisette with pleated Queen Anne collar and floor length bouffant skirt, over rayon taffeta with white lace mitts. Her headpiece was of orchid nylon net with yellow lace.

At the next meeting there will be selection of officers and final plans for the banquet will be made.

Afterwards, the couple left for a wedding trip to New York, the bride wearing a blue two-piece dress with a white blouse, skipper blue topper and accessories, and a corsage of red roses and white sweet peas. They will live at 614 Sixth street, Brooklyn.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School, and was employed by William Ryland and Sons, Inc.

The groom was graduated from Radio Electronics Institute in New York city. He served three years in the air corps, and was in Japan two years as a communications supply technician.

One of the advantages of having a good partner is that you can rely on him. Even when he is merely playing small cards he is on the alert to give you vital information.

West led the four of spades, East played the ten, and South played low. East continued with the jack of spades, and South took his king.

Declarer next led the queen of diamonds and overtook with dummy's king. East naturally refused to take this trick since otherwise the whole diamond suit would be run against him. East also paid careful attention to the fact that his partner had played the deuce of diamonds on this trick.

Mrs. Lyke and Mrs. Van Wagener were hostess and co-hostess.

Those present were the Misses Raymond Elliott, Anthony Bruntzinger, Mark Bryant, Gordon Eckert, Benjamin Van Wagenen, Frank Atlier, Carl Dedy and Mrs. Sales, a guest.

Christian churches of all denominations in Japan totaled 2,803 in 1949.

At this point South led his remaining diamond and played the nine from dummy. East had to decide whether to take his ace of diamonds or hold off once more. He would want to take the ace at once if he could be sure that South had no more diamonds; but he would want to refuse the trick if South had another diamond left in his hand.

Declarer next led the queen of diamonds and overtook with dummy's king. East naturally refused to take this trick since otherwise the whole diamond suit would be run against him. East also paid careful attention to the fact that his partner had played the deuce of diamonds on this trick.

Having arrived in dummy with the king of diamonds, declarer led a club and finessed his jack. West won with the queen and led another spade, knocking out South's ace.

At this point South led his remaining diamond and played the nine from dummy. East had to decide whether to take his ace of diamonds or hold off once more. He would want to take the ace at once if he could be sure that South had no more diamonds; but he would want to refuse the trick if South had another diamond left in his hand.

It is easy to see that East would have nothing better than a guess if his partner happened to be a poor player. A weak West would play the deuce first and then the six of diamonds whether or not he also held the seven of diamonds. In this situation, the chances are that East would guess wrong. He would refuse the trick to make sure of shutting out the rest of dummy's diamonds.

There is no guess, however, if West is the sort of player that East can trust. West would play his lowest card with exactly three diamonds (or a singleton); but he would play a higher card with two or four diamonds. This sort of signal is always used when dummy has a long suit without entries (winning cards) in side suits.

When the hand was actually played, East knew that his partner's duece of diamonds showed three cards in the suit. It was then easy to count the suit and take the second diamond trick. That limited South to eight tricks. Declarer would have made nine tricks if East had refused the second diamond.

Colonials Cut Seven Off Roster; Work Out Here Sunday and Monday

Deal Still on Fire For Bonus Catcher

Lakewood, N. J., April 25.—With the training season due to end Saturday and the Colonial League opener only a week away, the Kingston Colonial roster for 1950 was beginning to take shape today.

Seven players were released yesterday, four outright, and three to lower classification leagues.

Joe DiLorenzo, No. 2 catcher, was optioned to St. John's, Quebec, of the Canadian Provincial League, while third baseman John Musenici and outfielder Angelo Scarpia, were sent to Greenville, N. C., of the Coastal Plains League.

(The deal with the Cincinnati Reds for a $5,000 bonus rookie catcher was still on the today. Colonial officials were to make their decision by noon today.)

The catcher is Joe Juliano, who played with Muncie, Indiana, in the Ohio-Indiana League in 1948 and batted .322 in 126 games. In 419 times at bat, Juliano collected 138 hits, including 19 doubles, 5 triples, 8 home runs and had 75 runs batted in and 177 total bases. His fielding average of .970 and 83 assists reveal a sound receiver with a good arm.)

High On Catcher

"I feel confident the deal for Juliano will go through," Manager Emil Gall said today. "Frank O'Rourke, the head scout of the Cincinnati eastern farm system says Juliano will help us a lot."

Only four pitchers are definitely sure of their jobs at the moment as the Colonials prepare to break camp Saturday and head toward Kingston where they will work out on Sunday and Monday.

Glen Underwood, former Poughkeepsie southpaw, John Manopoli, Bill McKeever, a hold-over from 1949, and Bob Kunze, former New York city scholastic star, have made the hurling corps.

Gleason on Spot

Vince Gleason, former Arlington High School ace, and Pete Braun are conceded a chance of striking. Gleason had high recommendations when he landed in camp but has not been able to flash an acceptable fast ball.

Infield reserves are Vince Peppi, shortstop, and Ralph Matzer, who can play any infield spot in a pinch. Joe Allegretti is first string catcher at the moment but will be relegated to the No. 2 role if Juliano is purchased.

If the Colonials were to open the season today, the starting lineup would read something like this:

Joe Sposa, 1b; Harvey Porter, 2b; Johnny Walther, ss; Gerald Murray, 3b; Frank Merola, lf; Al Gerard, cf; Charlie Aspronomer, Jr.; Joe Allegretti, c; Glenn Underwood, p.

Ernie Burke, pitcher-outfielder, Reno Pisani, Sal Ferraro, outfielder, and pitcher Leon Couney were given unconditional releases.

The public is invited to attend the workouts at municipal stadium on Sunday and Monday.

What's Happened To The Pitchers

New York, April 25 (AP)—What happened to the pitchers?

That's the big question in baseball. So far, the hitters are way out front in their meat-and-potatoes bout with the throwers.

Of 80 starting pitchers, through Sunday's games, only 27 went the route. Some of the stayers had a tough time, too. Thirteen of 42 lasted all the way in the American, 14 of 38 in the National.

Bob Rush threw the only shutout in the first week of the season, a four-hitter for the Chicago Cubs over the St. Louis Cardinals. Usually there are several in the early days.

Take the batting averages, unofficial, of course. There's Gil Hodges whaling the ball at a .533 clip atop the National. Also a couple of .500 sluggers in the New York Giants' Henry Thompson and Brooklyn's bright young rookie, Bob Morgan.

Ailing Ted Williams, appearing in only three of the Boston Red Sox' first seven games is hitting .571. Dale Mitchell of the Cleveland Tribe is close with .500.

Things picked up a bit last night, however, with two shutouts in three games. Max Lanier of the St. Louis Cardinals shut out Cincinnati, 1-0, and Rae Scarborough of Washington blanked the Boston Red Sox on three hits, 3-0.

Tonawanda Kegler Leads A.B.C. All-Events

Columbus, O., April 25 (AP)—A 38-year-old gray-haired machinist from North Tonawanda, N. Y., took over first place in the all-events of the A.B.C. yesterday.

Jim Collins marked up an 1,893 total without much notice from the gallery. He banged out 573 in the team event, 688 in the doubles and 622 in the singles.

Art Kirchen of Lansing, Mich., rolled 247-183-267-697 for second place in the singles.

And, Knute Berg and John Larson of Chicago blasted a second-place doubles total of 1,289. Berg hit for 248-214-253-715 to Larson's 215-179-180-574.

Major League Roundup

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

What strange power does Washington's Rae Scarborough hold over the Boston Red Sox?

Joe McCarthy, Boston's puzzled manager, would give half his salary to find out. Tom Yawkey, the Red Sox's wealthy owner, went even further than that. He reportedly offered the Senators $200,000 and two players for the pitcher's services, just so that his club won't have to face him. He was turned down.

And no wonder. Scarborough, just another pitcher to the rest of the American League clubs, is Christy Mathewson, Walter Johnson and Cy Young rolled into one when he comes face to face with the hard-hitting Red Sox. He thrives on them.

In six seasons in the big leagues, the 32-year-old righthander has won only 38 games and lost 43 to the six other clubs. Against the Red Sox, Rae boasts a gaudy 10-5 record. No wonder the New York Yankees offered six players for him recently.

Gives Three Hits

Scarborough met up with the Red Sox for the first time this season last night. He proceeded to shut them out, 3-0. Three hits were all the power-laden crew could get off his offerings and all were made by one player—Al Zarilla, who rapped out two doubles and a single. Three others reached base by bases on balls.

Once once before in the major leagues has a player collected all three of his team's hits that was all the way back in 1910 when Jimmy Sheppard of the Chicago Cubs made three against Harry Gaspar of the Cincinnati Reds. And the Cubs won the game, 1-0.

The Red Sox-Washington game marked the first time Scarborough has faced Joe McCarthy's men since he beat them, 2-1, last September 28.

The defeat knocked them from undisputed possession of first place into a deadlock with the Yankees. It eventually proved the margin of defeat as the Yankees won the pennant by one game. Exactly a year before—September 28, 1948—Scarborough pitched a 4-2 triumph over the Sox. That loss cost them the '48 flag.

The Senators scored all their runs in the eighth. Until Al Papaloff had kept pace with Scarborough, holding the Nats to four hits. Then Washington jolted three times without getting the ball out of the infield.

Lanier Shines

Another masterful pitching performance was turned in by Max Lanier, veteran southpaw hurler of the St. Louis Cardinals. The pardoned Mexican League jumper threw a four-hitter at Cincinnati last night in defeating the Reds, 1-0. Ken Raffensberger, who holds two 1-hit shutout victories over the Redbirds, was the unfortunate loser.

Lanier was the whole show. He not only fanned seven Redlegs but drove in the lone run of the game with a double.

Brooklyn defeated the Boston Braves, 6-4, in the National League's only other game, scoring the winning runs in the seventh inning on a wild throw by Catcher Del Crandall. The youthful catcher threw the ball into left field attempting to pick Duke Snider off third and both Snider and Carl Furillo scored.

Dick Donovan, making his first start in the majors, was the loser. Don Newcombe was credited with his first victory although he needed help from Willard Ramseid in the ninth.

Rain and wet grounds wiped out the rest of the major league schedule.

Red Sox Face Loss Of Dominic DiMaggio

Washington, April 25 (AP)—Boston's lagging Red Sox were cheerful today over the prospective return of Ted Williams to the lineup, but puzzled over whether Dom DiMaggio will play.

The "Little Professor" was taken out of last night's game with Washington after four innings. He aggravated an injury to the calf of his right leg. Dom said his leg, which has bothered him since opening day, was "very sore."

Trainer Eddie Freilich put DiMaggio in the whirlpool bath in an effort to get the stiffness out of the leg. He said he thought the damp weather here caused the stiffness but he wouldn't hazard a guess about DiMaggio playing in today's game.

With DiMaggio in doubt and Williams in an "improved but weak" condition, the prospects of Manager Joe McCarthy's Red Sox getting on the road to the pennant weren't too bright.

The league will operate with eight teams.

Bowling

April 28 is the closing date for entries in the third annual Rhodes Handicap Bowling Classic in Middletown. A large 30-inch trophy will be awarded the sponsors of the high gross and high net squads.

Chris Gailo rolled a 205 average in the first five games of a 10-game, challenge match against Charlie Gildersleeve to lead his opponent by 246 pins at the Central Rees. The match resumes at the Bowldrome on Friday at 9:30 p.m. Gailo uncorked a 287 solo in the first block.

Art Parks made sure they didn't steal all his records in the Tavern Association League last night. Ed Cunningham came up with a hot hand and rolled 229, 227 and 193 for a new high series of 649. Parks held the old mark of 646.

But Parks accepted the challenge by crushing a 204 single in the middle set for a new record in that department. Other scores of 186 and 193 gave him a 642 overall.

Other top counts included W. Harder's 202-574; Mike Provenzano 216-570; H. Schumacher 584; Islandlander 207-539; F. J. Provenzano 214-549; Joe Messinger 204-549; B. DuBois 544; and Steve Weydon 542.

Comforter No. 4 captured the Y Federation International bowling crown by a single game margin over First Dutch No. 3 in the final night of competition last night on the Y drives.

The Comforters backed into the title by salvaging the middle set against Woodstock Methodist No. 4, while the First Dutch swept a trio from Woodstock No. 3.

Individual scoring honors for the night went to Victor Busch with a 525 series via 184-220-148. Dick DeKuy posted 238-528; Dick Little 251; Charlie Gildersleeve 492; J. Hounbeck 486; F. Mollenhauer 481; J. Little 472; A. MacDaniel 465.

With six games remaining on the schedule, the Hutton Brick squadles the torrid City Minor League race by a single game over Cities Service.

The Brickmakers copped the odd game over the Olimet in last night's position play.

Individual honors were wrapped up by Lou Secreto who splashed the maple for 182-204-178-554. Art Buddenhagen rapped 214-553; J. Lucas 212-552; H. Scarpaci 549; J. Fautz 217-541; Dominic Ausanio 203-534; Bud Ausanio 533; A. Amato ditto; Jack Hauleenbeck 531; Joe Ausanio 530; Pete Nagy 527; F. Pavlick 524 and Joe Dulin 522.

A meeting of the executive committee was held April 21, at Simons Inn, Plattekill, when further plans were made.

To Meet Rent Problem
Hartford, Conn., April 25 (AP)—Connecticut today appeared assured of a state standby rent control law to protect tenants against a possible end of federal controls after June 30. Both Governor Bowles and Republicans leaders were said to be in agreement over need for such a measure to take effect in the absence of federal legislation.

Moose Will Entertain Boys Club This Evening

The Kingston Boys Club will be guests of Moose Lodge, 970, in Moose Hall, Broadway and Thomas street tonight for a dinner and entertainment program. Governor Raymond Avery has announced that the boys will assemble in the Moose at 7 p. m. for a television show. Then there will be a dinner at 7:30, followed by a vaudeville show and movies.

Alexander "Pop" Fuhrman, director of the Boys Club, said he would have 50 youngsters in attendance at the affair.

Young Says . . .

fire with Russian planes and disappeared toward the sea.

Young, in saying Russia and the United States are each engaged in coastal reconnaisance, recalled the loss of an American submarine in Arctic waters last year and the recent frequent reports of unidentified submarine off the Pacific, U. S. Coast. He said: "Russian submarines have appeared off our coast."

Calls It Significant

As for the plane, Young said: "It is significant that there were three radar experts in our plane. . . . It is highly important that this nation test the effectiveness of the Russian radar net. Our aviators may be said to be making routine practice flights but you may be sure they are rendering important service to our country and they are risking their lives for us on every mission they make."

The navy, advised of Young's statement, said: "The navy will continue to fly its planes where international law permits, and will fly unarmed."

Asked about Young's statements, the White House and the air force said they had no comment.

The American submarine lost last year was the Cochino. The navy announced August 26 that it exploded and burned while engaged in cold water training exercises. Six navy submariners and a civilian technician were lost. A sister submarine, The Tusk, rescued 84 crewmen. The civilian was an employee of the Philco Corp., Philadelphia.

After the rescue, The Tusk put in at Hammerfest. That is a port at the northern tip of Norway. It is about 280 miles west of the Russian port of Murmansk.

650 Hear Talks
On Mental Health

An estimated 650 persons attended a panel discussion on the topic of mental health at Kingston High School last night.

The discussion, which followed the showing of a 20-minute moving picture, "The Feeling of Rejection," was sponsored by the high school parents and teachers discussion group.

Officials of that group and of the Ulster County Mental Health Committee had prepared for an attendance of about 200, and reported that they ran short of literature which they had planned to distribute to those present.

The meeting adjourned promptly at 10 o'clock, according to plan, and left unanswered approximately one-half of the questions submitted on cards distributed to the audience.

The Mental Health Committee, which obtained the film for the high school group, announced today that because the interest in the topic exceeded expectations, it will make the film available to other groups on request. Another film, "The Problem Child," is slated for presentation before various groups this week in connection with local observance of National Mental Health Week. A third film on related topics is now being produced by the State Mental Health Committee and will be available soon. It is entitled, "The Preface to a Life."

The film shown at the high school Monday night concerns a girl who, from babyhood, cultivated a feeling of rejection through the unthinking actions of her parents. Through their well-meant attitudes of domination and over-indulgence, the parents left the child feeling she was unwanted and developed in her potentially dangerous tendencies which were finally overcome when she visited a psychiatrist.

Participating in a panel discussion on the topic was Dr. Joseph Cummings, Poughkeepsie psychiatrist; Dr. Alice Rost, Albany psychiatrist, Dr. Henry L. Elbby, pediatrician; Dr. Edward F. Shea, chairman of the mental health committee; Dr. I. J. Josephson; Miss Clare Kelley, family case worker of the Ulster County Catholic Charities; Miss Esther Schisa, director of county public health nursing; Mrs. Herbert Shultz, Joseph Paley, City Judge

Raymond Mino, Ralph Herbert Bloom and the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra.

John Henry Martin, principal of Kingston High School, was moderator.
